OIL LAND LEASED HERE BY CARBON-CALGARY INTERESTS

CARBON HAS FINE OIL STRUCTURE; 18,000 ACRES FILED ON LAST FRIDAY; OIL POSSIBILITIES GREAT STATES GEOLOGIST; WILL FORM COMPANY IMMEDIATELY.

Considerable excitement prevailed in Carbon for a few days last week following a meeting of a number of the farmers and business men of Carbon, when it was outlined that there was a fine oil structure in the vicinity and that possibilities of oil here were very great. The object of the meeting was to form a syndicate immediately to take up acreage and in a couple of days there was enough capital from Carbon and Calgary interests to take up about 17,800 acres of the very best of the land that was blocked out by the geologist. As the filing of this land was urgent, a number of the men in this district made the trip to Calgary last Friday and the oil leases were secured immediately, the acreage taken up being practically all north of Carbon.

The Syndicate formed it to be known as the Valley Gas and Oil Syndicate and it will carry this name until a company has been formed to take over the leases and look after the interests of the syndicate.

It is expected that a local company will now be formed to develop this field and this will be done immediately, so we are informed. If negotiations can be made with a drilling company to put down a well there will be little delay before actual operations

ENGAGEMENTS ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Bertsch of Carbon wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Martha, to Mr. Chris. Dieck of Carbon, the wedding to take place the latter part of November.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Dieck of Carbon wish to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Elizabeth, to Mr. Bertsch of Carbon, a double wedding to take place.

will be commenced.

Many of the people of Carbon and district are interested in the proposition here and as it has always been known that there was gas in this vicinity and that oil has been seeping through on the creek in a number of places, they are confident of the possibilities of oil and in any event the striking of a good gas flow.

The oil structure commences close to the townsite of Carbon and extends for a number of miles north of here, so that if actual drilling operations can soon be commenced the Village of Carbon will prosper considerably in the near future.

MASQUERADE DANCE DRAWS LARGE CROWD ON FRIDAY

The masquerade dance, held in the Elks hall on Friday night proved a popular event and a good crowd was present to enjoy themselves.

The following were the prize winners for the various costumes:

Best Dressed Lady, Mabel Ramsay 1st; Martha Gray 2nd.

Best Dressed Gent, Fred Fuller 1st; Claud Davidson 2nd.

Best Comic Gent, Richard Appleyard.

Most original costume, Lucy Ruff 1st; Miss Larochelle 2nd.

The music was furnished by Mrs. Trainor's four-piece orchestra of Calgary and at midnight refreshments were served.

During the supper interval the drawing for the suit of clothes, which was raffled off, took place and the holder of the lucky ticket was S. Campbell of Belseker.

Although the expenses of this dance were heavy, we understand that the Elks cleared a considerable sum from this undertaking.

INSPECTION REQUIRED FOR FEED SHIPPED UNDER THE FREE FREIGHT TARIFF

Every possible precaution will be taken by the Alberta Department of Agriculture to prevent the spread of noxious weeds from one section of the province to another under the arrangement recently reached whereby hay, straw and greenfeed and feed oats and barley will be shipped free of the freight charges into those districts where additional feed will be required during the coming winter.

Any shipments of this kind, it is announced by Hon. George Hoadley, minister of Agriculture, must be inspected before being loaded, by an official of the Department, and for this purpose two inspectors have been appointed. In the part of the province south of Red Deer inspection of all such shipments must be made by the official at Calgary, and in the northern part of the province inspections will be made by Frank Stephens at Edmonton.

Farmers who contemplate selling hay for shipment under the provisions of the free freight tariff are advised that this hay or feed cannot be loaded until the vendor has secured from one of these inspectors a certificate of its satisfactory freedom from noxious weeds, and any person who proposes to ship feed under the free-freight arrangement would be well advised to communicate with the inspector for his district at the earliest possible date in order that such shipments may not be delayed for lack of inspection.

It may be pointed out that in addition to the area originally outlined in which free-freight tariff will apply, the following lines have also been included: Irricana to Conrich, Nighthawk to Norfolk, Grainger to Langdon, Bassano to Dalmead, Gleichen to Langdon and Lomond to Arrowwood.

The regulations as originally drafted applied to baled hay and straw, feed oats, threshed or in the sheaf, and grain screenings. Feed barley has since been added to the list of feeds which may be shipped into the designated area under the arrangement whereby half the cost of such ship-

HE HAD A LOT OF SENSE

There was an old geezer and he had a lot of sense. He started up in business on a dollar-eighty cents. The dollar for stock and the eighty for ad. brought him three lovely dollars in a day, by dad!

Well, he bought more goods and a little more space, and he played that system with a smile on his face.

The customers flocked to his two-by-four, and soon he had to hustle for a regular store. Up on the square where the people pass, he gobbled up a corner that was all plate glass. He fixed up the windows with the best that he had, and told them all about it in a half page ad.

He soon had 'em coming and he never, never quit, and he didn't cut down on his ads one bit. And he's kept things humping in the town ever since, and everybody calls him the merchant prince.

Some say it's luck, but that's all bunk—why, he was doing business when the times were punk!

People have to purchase and Geezer was wise—for he knew the way to get 'em was to advertise.

FINAL CROP REPORT TO BE ISSUED BY BANK OF MONTREAL

Manitoba received more rain during the season than Saskatchewan and Alberta and while the wheat yield is light it is estimated to be about 75 percent of normal. A crop much below average was harvested in central and southern Saskatchewan, but taking the Province as a whole, the wheat yield is about 66 per cent of normal. Lack of moisture in central and northeastern Alberta caused serious damage resulting in complete or partial failure in many districts. The estimated yield of wheat in that province is 86,548,000 bushels as compared with the average yield for the past five years of 129,941,000 bushels. In the Prairie Provinces this year 1,157,000 acres more land was sown to crop than in 1928, Saskatchewan having the largest acreage in its history. It is estimated that 24,297,000 acres were sown to wheat, 7,832,000 acres to oats and 5,114,000 acres to barley. The seed bed was in good condition with sufficient moisture for germination, but there was little reserve. Seeding became general about the end of April and was completed under favorable conditions early in June. Early growth was slow and towards the end of June the crop was ten days later than usual. During July and early August dry weather prevailed but scattered showers prevented what at one time threatened to be a crop failure. The grain matured rapidly and cutting became general by mid August. Harvesting operations were conducted under most favorable conditions and threshing has now been completed. Although the total wheat production is only half the 1928 yield, the total output is about 68 per cent of average for the past 5 years and 77 per cent of the ten year average. The wheat is of exceptionally high grade with excellent milling qualities. Since August 1st 162,000,000 bushels have been delivered in the three Prairie Provinces as compared with 288,000,000 bushels at this time last year.

The National Value of Radio

When the automobile began coming into use 25 or 30 years ago, it was looked upon as a luxury for the rich, another means of providing for their entertainment and catering to their enjoyment, but not to be regarded as a new means of transportation for the great masses of the people. Yet within the short span of a quarter of a century the automobile has revolutionized our habits and modes of living, until today the family that does not own a car is the exception, rather than the rule. At first it was the common practice to criticize the farmer who bought a car; now it is recognized as a practical farm necessity. What was to be a plaything of the rich has become the most popular means of transportation, and is seriously challenging the railways as carriers of freight for the shorter hauls. The automobile, too, has altered all preconceived ideas in road-building and the value and necessity of good roads.

Within even more recent years has come the discovery of the radio. This, too, was accepted at first as more or less of a plaything, something to provide pleasure in the form of musical entertainment in the home. Its value in this respect, especially in rural homes, and in towns and villages not enjoying the advantages which the large cities possess in the way of concerts and theatres, was quickly appreciated. Then came the broadcasting of grain and other market quotations, weather forecasts, live news bulletins, and information of general interest and value to the rural dweller, hours and days in advance of the time he would otherwise receive the same. As a result, within recent years, radio has been installed in tens of thousands of homes.

In a very notable way the value and influence of the radio has been extended in the last two or three years through the linking up of a number of stations through which programmes of exceptional merit are made available to all parts of the continent, even the world. One such chain after another has been created, but beyond one or two attempts, notably the Diamond Jubilee broadcast from Ottawa, in 1927, Canadian listeners have not had the benefit of Dominion-wide Canadian programmes, but have had to depend largely on United States stations.

All this is now changed, and this year Canada is being favored with Dominion-wide broadcasts, sponsored by large Canadian corporations, equal in every respect to the best that is presented in the United States. These Canadian programmes are now available several nights every week and the finest symphony orchestras and artists of the large Eastern Canadian cities can be heard in Western Canada homes. Not only so, but some of the outstanding musicians of Great Britain are being brought to Canada to broadcast over these Canadian chains.

In the past when outstanding statesmen like Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald visited Canada, a comparative small number of people in Ottawa, Toronto or Montreal had the privilege of hearing him. On his recent visit to Ottawa, when he was the guest of the Government of Canada, at a late dinner, hundreds of thousands of Canadians from Halifax to Victoria, listened to his inspiring address in the Houses of Parliament. His plea for international goodwill and world peace, his insistence that these could only be achieved through a "will to peace" on the part of the people themselves, was listened to by hundreds of thousands, and received by them as a direct personal message, couched in homely language, and reinforced with all the sincerity of which Mr. MacDonald is capable. In other words, the Prime Minister of Great Britain was enabled to talk, not merely to President Hoover and Premier Mackenzie King, but to untold millions of people in the United States and Canada.

The national, yes, international, value of such addresses cannot be correctly estimated. The radio has become one of the most powerful factors in breaking down the suspicions, the ill-will, the fears, which exist and develop across international boundary lines. The fact that statesmen can thus appeal direct to the masses of the people, their own and those of other nations, must prove a tower of strength to the cause of true democracy and better world understanding.

Even so, the radio is still in its infancy. What wonders it will yet unfold to us in five, ten or twenty years, can hardly be imagined. It may bring improvements so vast, including television with the broadcasting of moving pictures and current happenings, and other developments as to make the radio achievements of today seem very crude indeed.

An Interesting Collection

Valuable Documents Presented To Library Of Toronto University

A collection of historic documents, illustrations, maps, autographs and letters has been presented to the library at the University of Toronto by Henry Sprout. It includes the first example of typography in Upper Canada, a speech made by Sir John Graves Simcoe, a proclamation made at Newark in 1795, and letters from Sir Isaac Brock, William Lyon Mackenzie, Bishop Strachan and many other Canadians famed in history.

A New Musical Device

"Theremin" Has Tonal Quality
Similar To Cello Or Violin

Now you can be a musician without ability.

All that is necessary is to hum a tune, wave your hands over a gadget created by the Radio Corporation of America, and you get a fine musical effect.

The new device is called the "Theremin" and has a tonal quality similar to the cello or violin. It was displayed at opening of the radio world's fair recently, having a place in the exhibit because it is operated by two antennae.

LIFE WAS A BURDEN

Health Restored Through the Use Of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

"I am writing to express my gratitude for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me," says Mrs. W. J. Dowling, Tottenham, Ont., and further says: "I was so badly run down that I felt that life was a burden. The doctor said my trouble was due to poor blood, but his medicine did not help me. My face was sallow, my lips bloodless and at the least exertion my heart would palpitate so violently that I would have to lie down. My feet and legs would swell and cramp, and all my friends thought I was in a decline. In this condition I was urged by a friend to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got three boxes, and to my delight, by the time I had used them I began to feel better. I got a further supply and kept on taking them. Daily I felt myself growing stronger. The color returned to my cheeks and lips and I felt a new interest in life. To sum up I can now say that I am feeling fine, for which I give the credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which I strongly recommend to all weak girls and women."

A useful book, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of price 50c. Try them today.

A Dangerous Stunt

Demonstrates New Form Of Rejuvenation Operation

American Surgeon May Throw Light
On Eternal Quest For Youth

Man's eternal quest for youth held the attention of a group of surgeons attending the American College of Surgeons' clinic recently, after Dr. V. D. Lespenasse, Chicago, demonstrated a new form of rejuvenation operation. Although the college has not given official sanction to this type of surgery, the operation is causing comment.

Phlebophlebostomy, meaning "vein to vein" in the surgeon's vernacular, forms the basis of Dr. Lespenasse's new technique. The surgeon joins certain veins in the lower abdomen, causing the blood to follow a different course and thus, it is claimed, revitalizing the glands. The operation does not involve the transplanting of glands or the use of glandular extracts.

Dr. Lespenasse, in 1922, performed a rejuvenation upon Harold F. McCormick, prominent Chicagoan. The surgeon said that his method had passed the experimental stage and has been used on many patients.

Dr. William A. Osborne, Melbourne, Australia, dean of the faculty of medicine and chairman of the cancer research committee of the University of Melbourne, was amongst those awarded honorary fellowships.

Business Not So Good

Wheelbarrow manufacturers, meeting in Chicago the other day, admitted that their business had dwindled to little more than the export trade and decided to make only 22 models instead of the 168 varieties they had been producing. One trouble has been that the wheelbarrow has no sport model.

Made North-West Passage

Attempt Of Hudson's Bay Fur Trading Ships Was Successful

Three ships engaged in the fur trade and owned by the Hudson's Bay Company have between them forced the dreaded northwest passage, according to news reaching the Hudson's Bay Company offices at London, England. The ships are the "Bay of Chimo," "Fort James," and "Fort MacPherson. The "Bay of Chimo" left Vancouver last July and sailing through the dangerous Behring Strait, reached Point Barrow on July 24, and Cambridge Bay on South Victoria Island on August 25.

Last year the schooner Fort James, under the command of Captain Bush, sailed from Montreal and having wintered in the ice, began with the coming of spring a long fight to reach King William Land. The vessel was joined there by the "Fort MacPherson, which cruises within the Arctic Circle as a supply ship for trading posts and exploration purposes. The Fort MacPherson had sailed from Cambridge Bay, the farthest point reached by the "Bay of Chimo."

In this way, three vessels contracted to do what would have been impossible for one alone to accomplish. During the winter, locked in the ice, those aboard the "Fort James" endured great hardships and for most of the time were actually prisoners in the frozen waters. It is thought that the successful attempt to force this passage may mean that skins will be brought more quickly to Britain than in the past. An official of the Hudson's Bay Company declared that it remains to be seen whether such a journey is a commercial proposition. If this proves to be the case, the dangerous voyage from Vancouver through Behring Strait will be avoided.

High Grade Crop

According to the manager of the Canadian Wheat Pool, which markets the larger percentage of the wheat crop of Canada, most of this year's crop is grading No. 1 and No. 2, and there is so little of the lower grades passing through the elevators that hardly enough of grades 4, 5 and 6 can be found to make up composite samples for grading purposes.

Cyclopropane, a new anaesthetic gas which does not interfere with normal functioning of the body, was described by G. H. W. Lucas, of the Toronto University, Department of Pharmacology, at the eighth annual congress of anaesthetists in Chicago.

Lucas said the gas was in an experimental stage, having been administered only to animals as yet, but expressed great hopes for its early adoption by hospitals.

Her Little Boy Was Very Ill With Summer Complaint

Mrs. Ray Fisher, Lebreton, Sask., writes: "For over a month, last summer, my little boy was suffering from summer complaint. ## Needless Pain!

Nowadays, people take Aspirin for many little aches and pains, and as often as they encounter any pain.

Why not? It is a proven antidote for pain. It works!

And Aspirin tablets are absolutely harmless. You have the medical profession's word for that; they do not depress the heart.

So, don't let a cold "run its course." Don't wait for a headache to "wear off." Or regard neuralgia, neuritis, or even rheumatism as something you must endure. Only a physician can cope with the cause of such pain, but you can always turn to an Aspirin tablet for relief.

Aspirin is always available, and it never fails to help. Familiarize yourself with its many uses, and avoid a lot of needless suffering.

THE POSSIBILITY OF OIL

With the filing of some 18,000 acres in the Carbon district as possible oil land comes a new era in the history of Carbon. Years ago this was all ranch land; then coal was discovered long before the Drumheller field was opened up. Following this it was found that the Carbon district had soil that was suitable for the producing of a fine wheat crop and of late years the land has proven as the best in the province. Now comes the discovery that Carbon has an oil structure equal to that of Turner Valley and if development work is commenced immediately it will not be long before all eyes will be turned in our direction.
With the gas and oil indications that have been known in this district for years it seems quite possible that when the bit strikes the lime that the Carbon field will prove a winner and it is anticipated that this will be at a much shallower depth than oil was encountered in the Turner Valley.

With the production of Coal, wheat and oil in this district we have a combination that is hard to beat and as a manufacturing center Carbon may some day become one of the outstanding in the province.

WE CALL IT WORK

We are seriously contemplating the organization of a society to be known as "The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Editors." The objects of this society will be to regulate the demands made on the various chiefs of the clan, particularly those who sit in small-town newspaper offices.

Every week deputations wait on the town editor asking for advance publicity for some enterprise that may or may not be of a community nature. It is generally assumed that the event is of supreme importance and the biggest news story of the week. Following this deputation, a lone individual comes along and assumes that the man who has already spent thirty minutes writing up some ballyhoo, will purchase at least two reserved seats so that he can attend the show with a companion.

And some editors fall for it.
Naturally it is assumed that the editor will write not less than one column on the performance in which glowing phrases will pronounce it as being the most outstanding event in the history of the town and in which due credit will be given to all concerned—except the guy who wrote the story, who usually remains anonymous.

And, of course, everybody thinks the scribe is tickled up the back, that he just had one round of pleasure taking in the concerts, meetings, movie shows, services, whist drives, dances and other nocturnal splendors. Why should not he pay for the entertainment?

We are taking the chance of being labelled stingy, mean, tight-fisted, selfish, ornery, good-for-nothings with no community spirit, when we say that our attendance at such festivals, concerts, meetings, church socials, sports, and other local activities, is WORK—and we don't usually pay to go to work.—Drumheller Mail.

HAILED OUT

(By Bert Huffman)

This year of nineteen hundred and twenty nine, for the first time in twenty-one years my farm at Inverlake was completely, utterly hailed out. Not a golden head of all my crop was left standing.

My binders were out of the shed, ready to start the harvest. My men were on hand eager to start the cutting. Horses were fat and fine, the binder twine was bought and paid for and within forty-eight hours I would have started the cutting. I would not have given any one a dollar to have guaranteed that I would have harvest this crop. It was almost within my very grasp. The full fruition of the year's labor was just on the verge of being realized.

And then within an hour the sudden desolating storm arose, almost out of a clear sky. In thirty minutes after the first chilling gust of wind, passed all my hopes and there lay a desolate, ragged wreck not worth a week's meal ticket.

For a few minutes after the storm was over I stood heartbroken in the midst of my ruined labors, wondering if life were worth the cruel, brutal struggle which fate often imposes upon us. For a full year of hopeful labor
I had patiently and honestly wrought as my task, building my temple of life as best I knew with the intelligence and the implements within my grasp. And now it lay before my tired eyes a desolate wreck, crushed to the earth; not worth salvaging.

And then suddenly the sun came out brilliantly, gloriously. I saw my green meadow land down under the canal like an emerald carpet in a palace. I saw my calves and the young horses running and kicking up their heels in the warm sunlight.

And within the twinkling of an eye

I felt myself another being, another man. From the desolation, I looked out upon the green pasture and the sunkist prairie and felt a thrill and a warmth in my life that I had not felt for years.

I thought to myself that this is not the last crop I shall raise. This is not the end of my efforts. This is not the crushing blow that it might have been.
I am still alive and well. I am able to look forward to the future with hope and keen ambition.

My life is filled with pleasant memories and inexpressible delights. This miserable storm which has passed over my pathway is but one of the desolate halting places on the long caravan route of life. I shall go forward from it in gladness and hope and inextinguishable ambition.

The Soul within me was not hailed out!

I have still within me the heart and gagerness and the unconquerable will of a boy. Life's best pages are yet to be written. The most glorious hours are before me, hours teeming with hope and joy and hours filled with delights of friendship and companionship and tinged with happiness and filled with promise and fruition for the future.

The eager heart within me was not and shall not be hailed out.

British Industries Fair

Canada To Be Well Represented At Fair To Be Held February 17th To 28th

The Deputy British Trade Commissioner announces that the sixteenth annual British Industries Fair will be held next year from February 17th to 28th, inclusive, at London and Birmingham, England. The two sections are complementary to one another, the whole forming the British Industries Fair.

The London section of the fair, which is organized by the British Government Department of Overseas Trade, will be held for the first time in its new home at Olympia. Canadian buyers who have visited the fair in the past will remember that for the last few years it has been held at the White City, in London. Owing to the growth of the fair it has been found that the White City buildings are not now suitable. It has therefore been decided to move the fair to Olympia, which is being especially enlarged for the purpose by the addition of a four-story building. The new building will not actually be completed until the 1931 fair, but two floors, in addition to the existing building, will be ready for occupation by February next. By means of bridging the galleries and other reconstruction work, there will be ready for the forthcoming fair a large two-story building which is believed to be the first of its kind and size in the United Kingdom. Up to the 12th of August last, 800 United Kingdom manufacturers had applied for space at Olympia. Although no definite number is available, it is believed that the applications for space at Birmingham have been made by approximately 500 firms.

The Empire Marketing Board, which is organized under the auspices of His Majesty's Government, will again stage a representative exhibit of food products of the Mother Country, the Dominion and Colonies, and also of the raw materials of the Empire. This exhibit will be given a prominent position on the ground floor of the existing main hall at Olympia. In addition to this there will be a separate exhibit by the Canadian Government, and it is anticipated there will be a representative Canadian Manufacturers' section.

Many Canadian buyers are expected to visit this great national fair. The most prominent British firms in all lines of manufacture will be exhibitors. The exhibits are grouped by trades, so that a buyer can go to any section in which he is interested and inspect it without wandering over the whole of the fair building to discover any particular article or firm.

Canadian buyers who visit the fair each year have on numerous occasions drawn attention to the time which they have saved by a visit to the fair. By such a visit they avoid the necessity of having to travel over the United Kingdom to purchase from the various manufacturers in whose goods they are interested. The schedule of exhibits in both the London and Birmingham sections cover practically every article of United Kingdom manufacture. Full information can be obtained from the British Trade Commissioner, 703, Royal Bank Building, Winnipeg, who will be glad to issue invitations on behalf of the British Government to business men who contemplate making the trip.

Extra Rich Milk Is Used In Famous Bohemian Cake

Practical foreign recipes are always of interest to the housewife anxious to vary the menu. This molasses cake is decidedly different, and yet is easily made if you have extra rich milk on hand. Borden's St. Charles is particularly satisfactory, because it is twice as rich as ordinary milk, taking the place of cream in a cake of this kind. It never varies in quality; consequently you can count on uniform results in every kind of cooking.

Bohemian Molasses Cake

- 1/2 cup butter.
- 2 cups sugar.
- 1 cup molasses.
- 1/2 cup black coffee.
- 2 eggs.
- 1 teaspoon baking soda.
- 1/4 cup Borden's St. Charles Milk.
- 2 cups flour.
- 1 teaspoon ginger.
- Cloves.
- Cinnamon.
- Allspice.
- 1/2 lb. raisins.

Cream together half a cup of butter, a cup of sugar, a cup of molasses, half a cup of black coffee, two yolks of eggs, and a teaspoon of baking soda, dissolved in one-half cup St. Charles Evaporated Milk. Then add two cups of flour, a teaspoon of ginger, a dash of cloves, cinnamon and allspice, also half a pound of raisins, if desired. Bake rather slowly.

When done and cool, cover with icing as follows: Beat the two whites, pour into them, beating constantly, syrup made by boiling a cup of sugar with a fourth of a cup of Borden's St. Charles Milk.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

RESPECT FOR RIGHTFUL AUTHORITY

Golden Text: "Let every soul be in subjection to the higher powers." — Romans 13:1.

Lesson: Mark 12:13-17; Romans 13:1-14; 1 Peter 2:13-17.

Devotional Reading: Matthew 5:13-20.

Explanations and Comments

Jesus Teaches Respect For Law, Mark 12:13-17.—The Pharisees had resolved to compass the death of Jesus. How could they accomplish this? They decided to attempt to ensnare Him in His talk, so that they could report something He said as treason, and thus secure from the Roman Governor His death sentence. Craftily keeping themselves in the background, they sent certain Pharisees and Herodians to Him with that object in view. The Herodians were the court party, a small class who resented the Roman rule, but favored the kinship of the house of Herod and meant to be on good terms with the government at any cost. This alliance of Pharisees and Herodians, who hated each other, shows how great was their common hatred of Jesus.

"Teacher," the deputation began, "we know that Thou art true, and carest not for any one; for Thou regardest not the person of men, but of a truth teachest the way of God." By this preamble they meant that the question they were about to propound was a dangerous one to answer, but they knew He was not afraid of consequences.

Then came the question His enemies wished Him to answer. "Is it lawful to give tribute unto Caesar, or not? Shall we give, or shall we not give?" Caesar was the title given to all Roman emperors; the reigning emperor at this time was Tiberius. The tribute was the yearly tax levied on individuals by the Roman Government. Whatever answer Jesus might give would arouse hostility to Himself, the questioners thought; for if He said that it was lawful to give tribute, the people would condemn Him; and if He said that it was not lawful, He could be reported to Pilate as a rebel.

"Bring me a denarius, that I may see it," Jesus commanded. Strict Jews would not carry a denarius, for they held that the emperor's image upon it savored of idolatry, but one was easily obtainable from the money changers. When it was brought to Him Jesus asked, "Whose is the image and superscription?" "Caesar's," was the answer. "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's." And then Jesus quickly added, "And unto God the things that are God's." While discharging the duties imposed upon them by human conditions, men must never lose sight of the duties imposed upon them by their relationship to God.

And they marvelled greatly at Him, at the ease with which He gave an answer that was irrefutable and at the same time evaded the difficult position into which they had thought

The Singing Fool

By HUBERT DAIL

Copyright, 1928, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club wins fame as a composer of popular songs. He marries Molly Winton, a ballad singer, and makes her famous too. Molly and Al have a baby, Junior, whom Al adores. When Junior is about two years old Molly elopes with John Perry, Al's best friend, taking the baby. For a week there is no trace of them. Al, completely broken by the blow, visits his partner Billy Cline, at the Club Bombo, and declares he must sell out. He is through with Broadway. Just then Al learns from a newspaper article that Molly is at a New York hotel, preparing to sail for France that afternoon. He rushes to the 'phone.

CHAPTER XIX.

"No," said Molly to the maid, "you go on packing—I'll answer."

She picked up the receiver to hear Al's voice.

"Molly, is this you? Is it true you're sailing today?"

Molly's eyes grew cold as ice as a look of intense irritation crossed her face. She turned to Perry, putting her hand over the transmitter, and whispered, "It's Al." Perry started, then Molly answered into the 'phone.

"Yes, it's true. I decided to sail today."

The full force of her cold determination was conveyed to Al in those words. But his voice came vibrating back against her ear.

"Please, Molly, you must let me see Junior before he goes. That's all I ask—you won't refuse that!"

Again Molly signaled quickly to Perry, pointing to Junior. The racketeer jumped up—so Al was trying to spoil their game! Perry made a quick gesture of disapproval and Molly turned back to the 'phone.

"There's hardly time," she said. "We're leaving shortly."

Then it seemed to her that Al's voice hardened a little, too.

"The boat sails at six Molly—that gives you time. Remember you've taken Junior from me—and you know what he means to me! He's the only thing I have left to live for. I'll be with him only a few moments—you must grant me that!"

Al waited in an agony of suspense, while Molly did some quick thinking. She knew Al could make trouble for her if he wanted to do it. She didn't think he would, but if she refused this last request he might suddenly turn ugly toward her. She decided to conciliate him. Besides, for a wonder, she suddenly felt just a trifle sorry for him. After all, he had been an awfully good sport during the three years of their marriage, and he did adore Junior.

Then she became aware of Perry's agitated figure; he was pacing up and down in front of her, gesticulating for her to refuse. But she turned to him and said in low firm tones.

"We must do this for him, John. It won't hurt us. And he's been so decent to me."

Perry made a reluctant gesture of acquiescence.

"Do as you like. But you can't afford to have him come here."

"No, of course not." She turned back to the 'phone. "I'll have Junior at the 96th Street entrance to the Park in half an hour."

As Al heard her crisp good-by his face was illuminated with joy at the prospect of seeing his son. It would only be a few moments, but it was something—to hold Junior close once more and hear his baby voice. Al glanced at his watch, then remembered Billy Cline, who was waiting mutely nearby.

"She consents, Billy! I'm to see Junior in half an hour! Now I must hurry along."

Cline wrung his hand and Al picked up his hat and coat.

"We'll go over these accounts later," called Cline as Al hurried away, but Al gave only a hurried wave of the hand in agreement. His thoughts were concentrated on the meeting with his son.

Cline looked after him, shaking his head sadly. It seemed to him that the downfall and complete collapse of Al Stone was imminent all because of Molly.

"If I were in Al's place," thought Billy, "I'd certainly try to nab that woman at the boat and get the child back. But no, he won't do it. He thinks how it might put a stigma on the baby. And I think he loves Molly too much, even now, to do it."

The night club owner gave a sigh, sat down at his desk, and began to go over the accounts of the Club Bombo.

Al boarded a taxi and reached the 96th Street entrance ten minutes later. He still had a twenty minute wait, but he wanted to be on the spot ahead of time for this, the most important appointment of his life. He paced nervously up and down, peering at every limousine that passed. Then, as so often happens when there is so much at stake, imaginative and imaginary fears began to possess him.

What if Molly had lied to him, what if she were stringing him along and even now was hurrying with Junior toward the boat? But just when this fear had become so intense that he thought he couldn't endure it a moment longer, Molly's blue Rolls-Royce approached, came to a stop and the door swung open. Molly wasn't in it; a strange nurse-maid stepped out, leading junior by the hand.

Al rushed forward to clasp his boy in his arms.

As Junior saw Al approaching his little arms opened wide. Then he felt himself caught and lifted high, with his face against his daddy's cheek. Why this was just like home, when his daddy came in at dinner time, to rush into the nursery first thing and embrace him. Yet it was different, in a way, and the sensitive child felt it. His daddy was silent for a long moment as he pressed Junior close to him.

The little boy thought he was crying. . . . But no, Al held him at arm's length and whispered, with radiant face:

"It's wonderful to see you again. Did you miss daddy, Junior?"

Junior nodded. "Awful much. I asked mummy were you was. I asked her all the time."

Again the quick clasping of the little warm body in his heavy blue overcoat. Then Al carried Junior toward one of the benches that stood by the park entrance.

"Let's sit down here, Junior. We can be all alone."

Junior sat on Al's lap, looking up into his face. During these few precious moments Al wanted his child all to himself, out of earshot of the nurse-maid. There she was pacing up and down beside the car, keeping a sharp eye on Junior and his father.

"She's been told to watch me—told I might steal him," thought Al.

How pink Junior's cheeks were and how lovely his curls, escaping in profusion from under his funny little Breton cap. He sat with his tiny, sturdy legs, in leather leggings, spread far apart, studying his father's expression, as if seeking the answer to some question that was bothering his baby mind. Yes, there was something about Junior, a sudden gravity, that convinced Al he knew vaguely that all was not well with the Stone family. It was just a feeling with Junior and he had no words that really expressed it, but he said soberly:

"Daddy, I've missed you lots."

"Have you, Junior?"

"Yes, I have. I wisht you was goin' wiv mummy and me."

Al turned his face away quickly, as if he were studying intently something far down the street. He didn't want Junior to see his expression of extreme unhappiness, and for a moment he could not speak. But as he gained control of himself he said:

"Do you, Junior? So do I. You can't know how much daddy longs to go with you."

"Why can't you go, then?"

Again the sudden staring down the street and the quick return of daddy's warm, loving eyes.

"Because, Junior—well, it's something you wouldn't understand. You'll know some day. . . . But you'll never forget daddy, will you? You'll never forget that daddy loves you every moment and thinks of you and sings to you."

"Never," said Junior, with the certitude of a grown person and a solemn wag of his head. Then he asked:

"Do you feel bad, daddy?"

Al stiffened his quivering lip and managed to summon a smile.

Anglicising Foreign Names

Many Lose Their Dignity and Become Quite Commonplace.

Foreign names of musicians and composers always seem to be somewhat imposing and sonorous. When they are Anglicised they appear to lose much of their dignity, and become quite commonplace. Giuseppe Verdi becomes in English, Joseph Green, Wagner becomes Cartwright, Bach becomes Brook, and Weber, Weaver. Some names are less common when translated, and while Strauss, or Straus, is one of the commonest names in Germany, its translation is Nosegay, which is quite unknown here. Handel means trade or commerce; Haydn, heather; and Himmel, heaven; Loewe is lion; Cherubini, a little cherub; Rossini, the small red one; Schumann, shoe man, presumably the cobbler; Schonberg, beautiful mountain; Tito Mattel was simply Timothy Matthews, or he would have been so had he been an Englishman with an English name.

GUARD THE CHILDREN FROM AUTUMN COLDS

The Fall is the most severe season of the year for colds—one day is warm, the next cold and wet, and unless the mother is on her guard, the little ones are seized with colds that may hang on all winter. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent colds, or if it does come on suddenly their prompt use will relieve the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

British Census Takers Do Work Thoroughly

Chief Appointed To See That No One Escapes Count

Giant maps are now being prepared for the use of census takers in England and Wales, in 1931. These maps show every street and alley and court in the land and the whole country is split up into 50 areas. A census chief is appointed to each section, and has the responsibility of seeing that nobody escapes the count.

Even the gypsies and the vagrants on the road are "trapped" on census night by policemen specially detailed.

With 40,000,000 persons due to be counted, the census form goes into every house, every workhouse, every hospital, every prison and every casual ward and lodging house.

Important information will be extracted from the figures which will shed a light on the constantly changing conditions of the lives and habits of the nation.

Giant British Airship

Trials Of the R-101 Said To Be Most Successful

Great Britain's giant new dirigible R-101, largest in the world, has been granted her "air worthiness" certificate after her successful 300-mile flight.

The anxiety which was felt in many quarters about her navigability, before she went into the air, is said now to be entirely dispelled. The experiments made in her construction are considered a success.

It was stated that the initial trip was probably the most economical ever made by a dirigible so far as gas is concerned.

Experts looked forward to flights soon of the R-100, sister ship, and comparable to the R-101 in size and probable performance.

BUSTER KEATON IN "COLLEGE" TO BE HERE FRIDAY & SAT.

If you wish to laugh go to college.

Buster Keaton's new photoplay, "College," a spectacular United Artists feature with a campus background will be shown at the Carbon Theatre on Friday and Saturday of this week. Imagine frozen-faced Buster as a flashily attired rah rah boy and would be athlete? Getting into a scrape a minute and getting out of him in the most ludicrous ways imaginable?

The story of "College" first introduces Keaton as an awkward, book-wormish sort of youth. He is a mama's boy in high school, and when he enters university he is imbued with the idea of winning medals as a scho-

Keep next Friday or Saturday open for the next big event of the season, "Old Ironsides," which will be shown at the Carbon Theatre on Nov. 11 & 12.

to stop suffering

When America was wilderness, Indians were using herbs successfully. From the Redmen, 50 years ago, James Gallagher learned herbal secrets and compounded Gallagher's Herbal Household Remedies. His famous Kidney Remedy has helped many a sufferer from Rheumatism. This fine, time-proved remedy, drawn from the heart of Nature, heals and cleanses kidneys. Quickly stops back-ache, dizziness and other nagging kidney and bladder ailments. Try it! For sale by

lar. Then along comes a girl, who fires ambitions in the model student.

He suddenly gets an overwhelming yen for athletics and loud clothes, because the girl tells him he'll have to furnish inspiration for the cheer-leaders and campus Beau Brummels before she'll let him ring her door bell. Buster follows her suggestion—with startling results. He dolls up like an ad for Kelter Klothes shop and offers his services to all the athletic coaches.

The coaches are so delighted with the volunteer athlete that they kick him off the field every time he reports for duty. His rivals for the hand of the college belle lend plenty of aid in making the youth's life miserable.

How he unexpectedly performs the athletic feats he has dreamed of, wins the girl and is acclaimed as a real hero furnish a sensational climax.

Some of the supporting players who share honors with Buster in the United Artists comedy are Ann Cornwall, leading lady; Grant Withers, Harold Goodwin, Snitz Edwards and Flora Bramley.

"OLD IRONSIDES" WILL BE SHOWN HERE NEXT WEEK

The management of the local theatre have announced that the picture "Old Ironsides" will be shown at the Carbon Theatre on Friday and Saturday, November 8th and 9th. This picture is an epic of the high seas and adventures with pirates and other evils of the early sailing days are filmed.

"I suppose there are many problems which Polar explorers seek to solve?" said the unscientific man.

"Yes," replied the traveller, "a great many."

"What is the most important one?" "Getting back."

Patient (to nerve specialist): "And is your treatment completely successful?"

Nerve Specialist: "Absolutely, only last week one of my patients tried to borrow a fiver from me."

"I advertised that the poor would be welcome in this church," said the minister, "and after inspecting the collection I see that they have come."

During a hold-up in Chicago a young stenographer was grazed by a bullet. Thinking she was dying she dictated a farewell note. "Write to Johnnie," she whispered. "Give him my true love and best regards. Carbon copies to Harold, Fred and William."
